HARDING DELAYS SOLDIER BONUS BILL

MEASURE WAITS IS BELIEF NOW

President Expected to Ask
Postponement of All Action

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 8.—In expectation of a message soon from President Harding urging temporary postponement of the bonus bill and greater speed with the tariff and tax legislation, senate leaders today believed they had already mustered sufficient votes to lay aside the measure.

No effort to recommend the bonus bill to the financial committee, as proposed by President Harding in the capitol conference yesterday, was planned until receipt of the expected message. It was not certain when the message would be sent.

Minority leaders said they did not expect concerted opposition to the recommittal.

THEIVES ESCAPE WITH CAR TAKEN IN EARLY HOURS

Thieves entered the garage of J. W. Westbrook, postmaster, of 128 East Fourteenth street, at an early hour this morning by breaking the padlock on the outside, took his Buick touring car, and escaped in the darkness.

Although Mrs. Westbrook said she heard the roar of the motor when the car was stolen. The sheriff's office was notified and long distance calls at an early hour today notified officers in all surrounding towns to look out for the car and thief. Neighbors said this morning that they noticed the door of the garage standing open at about 4 a. m. but thought the family had taken the car out.

No indication was left as to what direction the man or men took with the car. Officers said they had no clue to the robbery but had thrown out a close net which doubtless would get some news of its whereabouts. The Buick had a new tire on the left hind wheel, an extra tire on the back, a dent in the rear on the left, and the glass broken out of the back end. A letter "W" was painted between the doors on each side of the car. A reward of $25 for the car and $25 for the thief has been offered.

Mrs. Kaber Calm as Murder Case Draws to Climax

(By the Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, July 8.—Unemotional, Mrs. Eva Katharine Kaber sat throughout yesterday in Judge Maurine Bernon's little stuffy courtroom while witnesses testified that the dying words of her husband, Daniel F. Kaber, for whose murder she is being tried, were "my wife ordered this done."

Neither did she display any emotion when the bloodstained dagger with which Mr. Kaber was stabbed 24 times was displayed, or when the witness said she had told them that she wanted her husband murdered.

Mr. Kabers' alleged remark was testified to by Police Lieutenant L. Miller, the first outsider to reach Kaber after the stabbing also by Dr. W. J. Quigley, one of the first physicians to arrive.

"I saw only one of them, but there must have been two," Lieutenant Miller said he told him. "One was a man with a cap."

The "man with the cap," according to county prosecutor Stanton, was Salvatore Cala, apprehended near Buffalo, New York, and now held on a first degree murder charge.

The state also offered testimony tending to substantiate the claim that an attempt was made by Mrs. Kaber to make the stabbing appear the result of a robbery.

Mrs. Marie Matthews testified that Mrs. Kaber a few days before the murder brought a large box of silverware and linen to her home and after the murder Mrs. Kaber gave her the articles. The silverware and linen were offered as evidence.

The court is expected to adjourn this evening until Monday.

BRITAIN WOULD TALK OF EASTERN PROBLEM

LONDON, July 8.—Great Britain, it was stated here today in quarters usually possessed of reliable information, is believed to have made overtures to the United States, Japan and China on the possibility of a conference to discuss the whole eastern situation.

GAS RATE ORDER NOW RESTRAINED

Federal Court Holds Up
Price Ruling of Commission.

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, July 8.—A temporary restraining order against the state corporation commission preventing the commission from putting into effect a gas rate order which was effective July 1 was granted the Oklahoma gas and electric company late yesterday by J. H. Cotterell in the federal district court at Guthrie. Announcement was made here today by officials of the company. The order is effective in all the cities served by the Oklahoma Gas and Electric Co. Hearing on the restraining order has been set for July 15 before Judge Cotterell at Guthrie.

Under the gas rate order a flat rate of 25 cents per thousand feet is charged by the Oklahoma Natural Gas Company for gas delivered to the city distributors, the latter standing the loss from leakage. The old rate of two-thirds to the Oklahoma Natural Gas Company and one-third to the Oklahoma Gas and Electric company is revised.

Officials of the two gas companies and members of the corporation commission are to appear before the federal court at the hearing.

Oklahoma City, Enid and El Reno are the cities served directly by the Oklahoma Gas and Electric company.

The Muskogee Gas and Electric company, a subsidiary of the Oklahoma Gas and Electric company, is also included in the application of the restraining order. It was said at the offices of the corporation commission.

PEACE DRAFT CARRIED TO CABINET MEETING

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 8.—A tentative draft of a proclamation of a state of peace with Germany and Austria was taken to the cabinet meeting today by Attorney General Daugherty, but it was indicated afterwards that the document might not be ready for the president's signature before next week.

It is understood that when the subject came up in the cabinet room the discussion revealed that so many points of law would have to be covered in such a proclamation that a more thorough study would be necessary.

Buy East Main Garage.
Sam Overby and Fred Buck have bought the East Main garage, it was learned today. Overby formerly owned the garage and Mr. Buck, who was raised in Ada, is a son of the late J. S. Buck, who died recently. The change of management will be made at once, it is understood.

NEW YORK, July 8.—Theda Bara, Siren of the screen, is a bride. Her friends here learned today that she was secretly married last Saturday at Greenwich, Conn., to Charles C. Brabin, director of her pictures.

RESERVE BANKS NOTE DEFLATION

Contraction of Currency
Given as Indication of Drop.

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 8.—Federal reserve bank operations during the past year have resulted in an increase of its gold holdings by $483,607,000, a decrease in its notes in circulation of $480,000,000, and an increase in its total reserves of $519,000,000, according to a statement issued by the board of governors Thursday.

The contraction of the currency indicated, the board said, "the degree to which the country had entered a period of deflation."

Characteristics of this period on the banking side have been reduction of loans and bills held, retirement of note circulation, gain in gold, and the liquidation of investments," the statement said, "while on the business side there has been a lowering of production, growth of unemployment, falling off of foreign trade and reaction of prices."

"The spring months of 1921 would seem, in the light of information now available, to be a period of approach to equilibrium in certain lines of business, and of preparation for recovery from depressed conditions that had developed."

Total resources of the reserve system, amounting to $5,242,000,000 on June 29, 1921, were decreased 13.7 percent from the total on June 25, 1920, of $6,074,000,000.

STATE HAS HIGH LEVY IN INCOME TAXES FOR YEAR

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 8.—Total federal tax receipts by the state of Oklahoma for the fiscal year which ended June 30 was $26,993,357 of which $21,243,813 was derived from income and profit taxes, according to announcement from the bureau of internal revenue Thursday. The statement was based on collectors' telegrams of June 30, it was said, and it was explained it might be necessary to make slight changes.

Total tax receipts by the government for the fiscal year ending June 30 was $4,593,933,248 of which $2,212,713,489 was derived from income and profit taxes the bureau announced.

Reports from other states received at the same time show that of the total collection, New York paid more than one fourth and led all other states. Pennsylvania came second with $487,711,269. Illinois, with a total of $387,763,982 of which $260,300,282 was collected from incomes and profits, ranked third on the list.

CURE OF SORROW PASTOR'S THEME

Morris Shows, in Revival
Sermon, Panacea for Life's Grievs.

A cure for sorrow and griefs was laid down last night by Rev. C. C. Morris, pastor of the First Baptist church, in his sermon "Sorrow and Its Cure" at the Oak Avenue Baptist tabernacle.

"God had one Son without sin; but not one without sorrow and grief. Jesus was a man of sorrows and was acquainted with grief," the minister said. "In my twelve years in the ministry as a pastor I have been able to get an insight into the lives of people in a larger way than I could ever have gotten in any other vocation in life. These years have taught me that there is an undertone of sorrow and grief running through the human family—a kind of groan unheard by the casual and careless observer."

"Often behind a mask of hilarity and apparent happiness is hidden an aching and bleeding heart, wracked with sorrows. Sorrow comes sometime in some form to every mortal. This same Jesus who drank to its bitter dregs the cup of human sorrow and pain, said to his sorrowing disciples and to the heart stricken of all times and all stations in life, 'Lay not your heart be troubled ye believe in Me, believe also in Me.'"

The discourager was branded as the least desirable fellow in the world. "Jesus came to encourage and save and help. He who tries to fight the battle of life without Him is fighting a losing fight," he said.

BOY SCOUTS TO OPEN LODGE NEXT TUESDAY

Formal opening of the Ada Boy Scout lodge, which has been completed recently, will be held Tuesday afternoon, July 12, at 5 o'clock according to an announcement made this afternoon by Harry Miller, scout executive.

For almost six weeks, in sunshine and rain, scouts have labored on the lodge. Mr. Miller said, "Ada's scouts, ten or twelve at a time, have taken their turns building the lodge and now the cottage is a good looking building with a big fire place in the rear and electrically lighted by the courtesy of the Oklahoma Light and Power company."

Several days, scouts came back from the city lake near which the lodge is located, in the rain and one day after a big shower all were compelled to take a boat across the lake because water was too high for the team to ford, it is reported.

"No other town in Oklahoma has anything that will beat it," a visiting scoutmaster told the local scout executive after inspecting the work. One hundred and two scouts worked on the building. At the opening, supper will be served on the grounds and every scout and his parents are urged to be present with well filled baskets. First and second class merit badges will be awarded and pictures will be taken of the scouts and the building. The Ada high school band will furnish music for the opening.

The Plainview dairy will have ready cold bottles of sweet milk and sandwiches for visitors, it is announced, and ice water will be furnished from a cooler free.

CATTLE POOL TO BE GIVING RELIEF SOON

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 8.—The $50,000,000 pool formed by bankers for the relief of the live stock industry will be in operation in two weeks, it was announced here today following a conference yesterday when satisfactory plans were made for the discounting of the loans at the federal reserve banks.

Applications for loans in excess of one million dollars have already been received.

BOOSTERS MAKE LAST OF TRIPS

Auto Trade Caravan Shoves
Off Today With Much Enthusiasm.

With as much enthusiasm as they had Wednesday and Thursday in the opening trips, a big delegation of local business boosters left Ada shortly after 8 o'clock this morning for the last trade trip of the series which is to precede the trades day here next Monday.

About ten cars, filled with trade day enthusiasts will make the trip today which includes Francis, Allen, Steedman and Lulu. Although this is the shortest trip of the three day series, it is expected to be a profitable one for the business boosters and the city. The delegation probably will return to Ada early this evening. The last town booked on the trade trip schedule for today is Lulu which cars are expected to reach about 4:30.

A hearty reception met the delegation at practically all stopping points on yesterday's route, according to reports from those who made the trip. Cars left Ada after a segenade by the high school band about 7:30 and made Francis as the first town on the way. Other stops on the route were Pontotoc, Connersville, Bromide, Centrahoma, Tupelo, Jesse, Stonewall. Part of the delegation missed Jesse on the route and none of the cars made Ahoskie, the last point booked for the trip, because of the late hour, it was reported today.

Much rough roads were encountered on the trip Thursday, those who went said. At one point it was necessary to make a detour of 20 miles to make eight miles and at other points time was lost by slow travel due to the bad condition of the route.

LEADERS OF MINE STRIKE GIVEN SIX MONTHS IN KAN.

(By the Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Kan., July 8.—Alexander Howat and August Dorchy, president and vice-president of the Kansas miners union, were sentenced to serve six months in jail and pay a fine of $500 by Judge Frank W. Boss in the Cherokee county district court today. They were convicted last week of violating the Kansas industrial court law by calling a strike of the miners in February.

The certainty, not the severity of the penalty, Judge Boss declared, was the most important element in passing the sentence.

He could have sentenced Howat and Dorchy to a year in jail and a fine of $1000 each. Dorchy made a speech to the court before the sentence was passed denouncing the trial and alleging that he was not given fair treatment there. He did not know, he told Judge Boss, that he was violating the law when he called the strike.

Howat asserted that the court treated him unfairly in not allowing members of the mining union which he heads to sit on the jury.

Judge Boss in passing the sentences replied to the union leaders charge of an unfair trial because union miners were not allowed to sit on the jury. He said it would be a travesty to allow union miners to sit on the jury.

(By the Associated Press) COLUMBUS, Kan., July 8.—A motion for a new trial submitted by the defense yesterday was overruled by Judge Boss.

Notice of application of appeal was entered after the passing of the sentence and arrangements are being made for securing bond.

FIVE BANDITS LOOT IOWA BANK OF $5,000

(By the Associated Press)
DES MOINES, Iowa, July 8.—Five bandits entered the Colter State Bank of Colter, Iowa, at 2 o'clock this morning, according to advices received by deputy sheriff Hugsley here, fired five charges of nitroglycerin, and escaped with five thousand dollars.

A posse started in pursuit but turned back when the bandits opened fire on them.

DEFENDANT HELD IN THREE CASES

Jones Bound Over to the District Court for Alleged Assault.

One case was dismissed and the defendant bound over on three other charges yesterday when Rance Jones, who, it is alleged, fired random shots in a dance hall crowd here on Saturday night, June 18, came before Justice of the Peace, H. J. Brown for a preliminary hearing.

Remaining bonds of $2000 each in three other charges were to be made today, attorneys for the defendant said this morning.

The case involving the complaint of Robert Harrison, an oil field worker of near Allen, who charged that he was injured by one of Jones' bullets, was dismissed. Harrison, it is said, has only a scratch across his wrist and was unable to state positively whether it was from one of the shots. Charges on which the defendant was bound over to the district court are all of assault with intent to kill on Sidney Harris Bazer, Chandler and Grover Gaar.

According to the story told by Gaar at the hearing yesterday, Jones with others of the party had "taken a drink" together and then gone to a water fountain. As they re-entered the hall, Jones produced a gun and started firing, he said. No motive for the firing was brought out but it is thought that Jones was firing at Gaar, who jumped behind another man and was unhurt.

OIL BURNERS FOR ALL STATE SCHOOLS, PLAN

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, July 8.—Arrangements are being made by the state board of affairs to install oil burning apparatus in all state institutions where it is practicable, which will mean a saving to Oklahoma of one-third on its winter heating bills, according to George F. Clark, chairman of the board of affairs.

Contracts were closed by the board of affairs Thursday for 25,000 tons of coal for state institutions and every effort will be made, according to members of the board, to move the supply before the hearing of the interstate rail rate case before the interstate commerce commission August 4. The hearing in question will decide whether a 35 percent freight rate decrease authorized by the corporation commission shall continue in force.

Coal for which the state contracted Thursday varied in price from $3.75 to $4.53 a ton. Clark estimates the coal will cost the state nearly $200,000. Five thousand tons were ordered for the Granite reformatory.

SCHOOL EXPENSE LIGHT FOR YEAR

Individual Cost to City for Grammar School Student is $27.

It cost the city an average of $27 to send each one of its 2075 white grammar grade pupils to school last year and $103 each for every one of its 359 white high school students, according to an annual report submitted today by City Superintendent J. E. Hickman.

Total valuation of elementary schools for last fiscal year was $200,000 and of the high school $77,000, including equipment, according to the report. These are only a few figures of the complete statement which covers every phase of city school work.

The average cost for each one of the 74 negro pupils was $27 each. One negro student finished the eighth grade in the city as compared with 131 white students. Forty-six white students completed high school work in the city last year. Of these, 21 were boys and 25 were girls. Girls outnumbered boys in the total white enrollment in the city schools 1253 to 1181 and also excelled in average daily attendance, the report indicates.

Thirty-nine teachers and supervisors were employed for grade schools and 20 for the high school. Enrollment in grades is as follows: first, 436; second, 290; third, 258; fourth, 278; fifth, 246; sixth, 185; seventh, 215; eighth, 170. In high school, students were classified as follows: freshmen, 150; sophomore, 91; junior, 62; and senior, 55. One special student was enrolled in high school. Sixty-four percent of attendance was recorded for the grades and 85 percent for Ada High school. An average salary of $127 a month was paid by the city for grade school teachers and $175 for high school instructors. These reports are for the white wards and high school.

$68,517 for Salaries.
Additional features of the report show that a total of $68,517 was spent during the year for salaries to teachers, principal, and supervisors, $1800 for principal, and supplies used in instruction, $2700 for light, fuel, phones and janitor supplies, $3000 for maintenance of buildings and grounds, and $3800 for sundry expenses. Total expense for maintaining white schools was $104,761.02. Cash paid out during the year reached $167,888.51. A balance of $27,327.07 was on hand at the beginning of the new fiscal year, July 1. The total assessed value of the city school district was $5,726,735. The total bonded indebtedness for schools was $236,421.20. These figures also are for the white schools.

Sixty-two percent attendance was recorded in the negro grades. Salaries for negro teachers reached $1530 for the year, $50 was spent for supplies, $100 for light, fuel and repairs, and total expenditures for the negro school was $1780. The value of negro school building, site, and equipment was $3300.

The superintendent's financial statement shows the receipt of $60,000 from the sale of bonds during the year, $89,886.21 from total non revenue receipts, $5,987.18 from state per capita apportionment, $2,418.54 from county per capita apportionment, $32,660.93 from district tax, $36 from transfers and $248.68 from interest. Total revenue receipts for schools amounted to $103,549.37 and total revenue and non revenue receipts were $193,435.58.

Buccaneers Have Chance of Lives at Golden Cargo

NEW YORK, July 8.—There was a golden opportunity at sea today for the buccaneers some people think are roving the Atlantic. Five steamers plying the Atlantic have eight million dollars in British gold consigned to American banking houses.

All are passenger carriers heavily manned. In a week nearly 11 million dollars in gold have been unloaded here. By mid-July about $400,000,000 in gold will have been imported since the first of the year.

Peggy Joyce Will Get $1,350 a Month for Alimony Fee

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, July 8.—Peggy Hopkins Joyce was awarded $1350 a month alimony, $27,500 solicitor's fees, and $12,500 for legal expenses today by Judge Sabath in the superior court in her counter-suit against James Stanley Joyce, millionaire lumberman, who originally sued for an annulment of their marriage.

Stories of Great Scouts

By Elmo Scott Watson

JEDEDIAH STRONG SMITH, THE AMERICAN ULYSSES

This is a story of a modern Ulysses, a frontier hero of many wanderings, who died without receiving the fame which was his due, a man whose service to America has been but lately appreciated by his countrymen. Jedediah Strong Smith was his name, and his contribution to history was the first accurate mapping of the great West.

Smith was born in New York in 1799. As a boy he played with the young Seneca Indians of Chief Cornplanter's tribe, and learned their lore. He became an expert with the bow and arrow, which he afterward carried on all of his expeditions. Once he brought down a hawk flying about 75 yards above him, and he could drive a shaft to the heart of a buffalo as skillfully as any Indian hunter.

In years of wandering Smith crossed the western country on the south from the Colorado river to the Pacific; he crossed it midway from the Rockies to the Pacific, and he traversed it on the north from California to the Rockies. He visited all the important streams from Arizona to the Yellowstone country, and he made accurate notes of all he saw. This information was used in correcting the unreliable maps of the day and proved of inestimable value to later explorers.

Smith's death was heroic. In 1831 he was guiding a wagon train over the Santa Fe trail. The train had taken a short cut around the head of the Cimarron river and soon was lost in a desert country. Water must be found at once. Smith set out in search of a stream, and finally reached one. While drinking, he was surrounded by a band of Comanches, who determined to have the white man's gun.

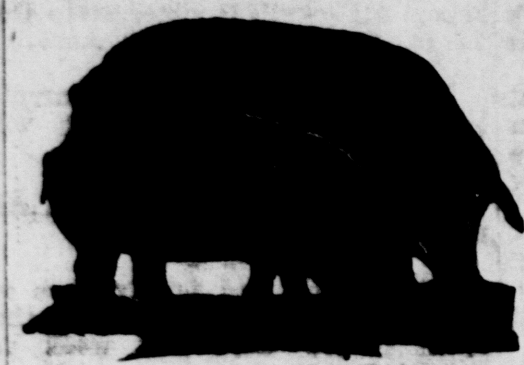

The Indians signaled peace, and after talking in the sign language for a while, they succeeded in frightening Smith's horse. As it turned, they shot at the scout with arrows, wounding him in the arm. Smith wheeled about, shot the chief dead with his rifle and killed two more savages with his pistols. Then grasping his ax, the scout dashed into their midst. They cut him down with their lances, but when they approached to scalp him, Smith rose up again and stabbed three of them with his knife. Then he dropped dead. The Indians afterward admitted that he had killed 13 of their party before he died!

STATE FAIR IS INCENTIVE FOR RAISING PUREBREDS

City folks—especially the younger ones—sometimes wonder the why and wherefore of the livestock exhibits at a fair. The Oklahoma State Fair and Exposition which attracts hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of precious pure bred animals each year to its judging rings, answers this query with the following photograph, snapped on the hog farm of a prominent Oklahoma breeder.

A "State Fair Hog" and a "Tain's Fair Pig"

The two swine above, photographed side by side, are exactly the same age. The large one is a pure bred sow—well known to State Fair exhibitors. The other is an ordinary average scrub pig and, as the owner says, "Tain's fair to the breeder, feeder, stock yard man, butcher or consumer to handle him." He eats just as much as a pure bred and requires just as much care and attention but when the day of reckoning comes, the purebred State Fair type weighs in around 600 pounds while the scrub "tain's fair" specie tips the beam at 150 or 200 lbs.

When you go to Oklahoma City for the fifteenth annual exposition, September 24 to October 1, be sure to visit the livestock exhibit and see why it pays to eliminate the scrub and raise the State Fair kind.

THOROBREDS AT STATE FAIR

Fast Track at Exposition Assures Record Running Races

Horse racing at the Oklahoma State Fair, September 24 to October 1, promises to be a much greater attraction than last year.

The new speed program of the Kansas state fair at Hutchinson, which precedes the Oklahoma City Exposition, is proving a great aid in attracting the desirable horses west of the Mississippi. I. S. Mahan, general manager, expects 250 entries, not only a larger number but also a more desirable class of horses than heretofore, to compete for purses which total over $6,000. The Oklahoma Derby September 29, carries a purse of $500 and added money. Racing days are September 26, 27, 29, and 30.

THE TROUSSEAU.

By CORONA REMINGTON.

"I could stand being just a poor little seamstress, Spry, although it is a tumble for Colonel Taintor's daughter, if only I didn't have to sew on gorgeous wedding gowns and dainty underwear. It makes me so lonesome and blue and I simply can't keep from thinking of Jim when I'm working on them. If his health hadn't broken down and he hadn't gone away or if he could only have understood that I would rather have married him sick than not at all. But what's the use of fretting, Spry? The girl broke off. Mother has to be kept in medicine and comforts, and if it takes trousseaux to do it then trousseaux I'll make—that's all."

The collar lying at Evelyn Taintor's feet opened one brown eye lazily, gave two feeble nods to his bushy tail and closed his eye again. He was accustomed to hearing her talk to him and he knew that he would have no peace until he showed some sign of understanding and sympathy, so he had long ago formed the habit of wagging his tail in his sleep whenever he heard his name mentioned.

The girl stitched away busily on the tiny, handsome tucks and tried to make herself believe that she enjoyed the soft radiance on Miss Connor's face when she came to be fitted.

"When do I have to come back to be tried on?" Miss Connor asked the next time she came.

"It won't be necessary for a week or so. You see, we're practically the same size—except for the best dresses I can get along pretty well without you."

"That's a fact, though I never noticed it before," said Dorothy.

Evelyn worked early and late on the pretty things, stitching as earnestly and with as much interest as if they were to be hers.

When at last the wedding dress was finished, Evelyn wrapped it tenderly in tissue paper and put it in its box. It was a wonderful thing of purest white and that night after she had packed it away she could not sleep for thinking about it. In the dark she could see it in front of her shimmering white—each fold in its place.

"I—I've never tried it on. I wonder how I'd look in it," she said.

Without taking time to think she leapt out of bed and flashed on the light. For a long while she sat in front of her mirror fixing her hair in its softest, most girlish way, then she slipped on her underclothes and went out into the dark sewing room. At every step she stopped to listen for a sound from her mother's room, but she was still sleeping quietly.

The next morning she rose early and went to work on proxy underwear, but to Evelyn nothing was proxy any more. Each garment seemed alive to her and she worked with a feeling of love toward them.

Her reflections were interrupted by the tinkling of the telephone at her elbow.

"Miss Taintor?" said a voice at the other end.

"Yes."

"This is Dorothy Connor. I—I just wanted to say that I shan't need the trousseau. Do anything you like with it—keep it—throw it away—give it away; I don't care—I never want to see it again—it would kill me. Send the bill."

With a sob Miss Connor hung up the receiver and for a minute Evelyn sat in her chair stunned. She went through the day's work mechanically, scarcely realizing what she was doing. It must have been a year later that Evelyn read of Miss Connor's elopement with Tom Farlingham.

That day she got out the almost forgotten trousseau and had another dress rehearsal.

"I felt bitter toward it for a while after she split up, but I guess I love it again now and I'll keep it—it's mine," she told herself.

"I really am so wonderful in this dress," she couldn't help confessing to herself as a few minutes later she stood once more in front of the long mirror.

The door bell rang sharply and Evelyn held up her hands in dismay. What should she do? If it rang again, it would certainly wake her mother who was just getting a little nap after a night of pain. She slipped down the hall and opening the door a crack put her head around the corner.

"J-Jim! Oh, Jim!" she said, rushing toward him.

"Good Lord, Evelyn!" he exclaimed staring at the gown. "It can't be so. Don't—don't say this is your wedding day. I—I came back hoping you'd waited for me. I dropped our correspondence because my recovery was so uncertain I didn't feel I had the right to ask you to wait."

Then she told him all about the trousseau.

"Let's go right now, my darling, and get married," he pleaded. "I don't want any more scares like this one. I can't bear another hour away from you. You'll never know what it's been like hoping and praying and waiting and wondering and fighting all the time—fighting an almost hopeless fight."

"I've hoped and prayed and waited and wondered too, but it's all been so very worth while," she sighed happily as she crept a little closer into his strong arms and let the tears of joy fall unheeded on his coat.

"POOR OLD DAD."

By VERA T. ROGERS.

Over and over again the thoughtful, studious Tremain impressed upon his daughter the fact that she should marry.

"Don't keep him waiting longer, my child," he would urge, while the pain in his dark, near-sighted eyes was all too evident. "He loves you, you love him, and he is a fine fellow."

"But, daddy—let you live alone?" Clytie's St. Cecilia face would lift to scan the expression behind his heavy spectacles.

"You have been a wonderful daughter; you have thought of me always; now we must think of you." He was smoothing her soft hair with a thin white hand. "I won't have you left alone—as Libbie Carson was when her father went at last. It is your right—every woman's right—to marry." He would stoutly affirm, but his heart quaked with the dread of losing his only child, the sunshine of his scholarly life.

And Clytie would look long out of the window at the big, empty Carson home, across the elm-bordered street. It had been used as a hospital during the war. Libbie—husbandless, childless and the last of the Carsons—was wondering.

One February evening she stared through the bare branches of the trees until every gray-shuttered window seemed to mock her with the eyes of starved ghosts. She twisted her hands in an agony of indecision: "I can't leave daddy for Race. If only mother had lived!" Then she wept hysterically. Her father, buried in his books, did not hear, but her lover came upon her unawares.

"Clytie, darling," he whispered, "let's get married right away; you've kept me waiting long enough."

"That—that's what daddy says, too," she gulped weakly, from the pressure of his strong arms.

"He does?" shouted Race. "Your dad's a brick!" he added inelegantly. "Perhaps we can persuade him to live with us, once we're married."

She shook her head to assure him that her father never would, while a strange, new emotion hurried the heart against his breast. At that moment a finger of light from the rising moon touched the face of the house across the street. It was fateful.

"Per—perhaps daddy could be persuaded," she whispered softly.

The ceremony was a quiet one in the big, flower-decked library. While Clytie promised to love, honor and obey Horace Townley, her subconscious mind was an exclamation point: "Move daddy and all these books to a city apartment!" Then she was whisked away to a Southern honeymoon.

Tremain's married sister stayed on with him while Clytie was gone. He would have preferred to be alone, with the memory of his daughter and the unobtrusive ministrations of the elderly housekeeper. Aunt Emma wasn't used to his ways, she was a fussier and managed to mislay his books and papers with her constant tidying.

The bookworm was frequently driven from the house by her industry. The sight of a feather duster, with a long handle, in her capable hands, was the signal for his departure. "It will do him good," was her brisk answer to the old housekeeper when she remonstrated. "Clytie let her father have too much of his own way. But, land alive! what could one expect from a child with such a heathen name? He isn't fifty yet, and he moves about like an old man."

The harassed man ceased, at last, to slam the outer door as a violent reproach to his officious relative. He began to enjoy his long walks in the keen March air and bright sun. His eyesight began to improve, his stooped shoulders straightened perceptibly, and his long limbs were acquiring a rhythmic swing in place of the former wobble. Aunt Emma smiled behind her duster.

The glowing bride stepped from the gangplank into her father's strong grip.

"Why, Daddy," she gasped, "is it really you?"

"You may thank, or blame, your aunt for this coat of tan," smiled Tremain, when he had greeted the beaming Race. "But who is this?"

"Forgive me, Miss Carson," Clytie sweetly apologized to a fair woman with smiling blue eyes, who stood behind her. "We met her on the boat Daddy—you remember—from the house across the street?"

"Libbie—Libbie Carson!" Tremain had taken both gloved hands which the laughing woman held out.

"Morse Tremain—you don't look a day over forty!"

The young folk had turned away to look over the luggage.

"Do you know, I believe Daddy can be persuaded to live with us, after all!" cried the delighted bride.

"Think so?—I don't," grinned Race, knowingly.

Clytie looked back over his shoulder and stood stock still. The pair at the other end of the pier were in a world of their own. Her father's attitude was unmistakable, but the astute words she couldn't hear.

"It is your duty, Libbie—every woman's duty—to marry."

Nor the pink-faced woman's answer: "I—I believe it is, Morse."

"Oh! Race—she—she's a darling," gasped Clytie. Then the St. Cecilia face lifted reverently in the sunshine.

STATE OF YUCATAN SOCIALIST STRONGHOLD

(By the Associated Press.)

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 29.—Travelers returning here from the state of Yucatan describe that region as a socialist stronghold with radicalism strongly entrenched from the governorship down to the most minor office.

Felipe Carrillo, member of the federal Chamber of Deputies whose radicalism recently led to attempts to oust him from the lower house, is the acknowledged leader and in all probability will be elected governor at the elections next fall.

Although the radicals are divided into two groups—the regular socialist party and the Socialist party of the Southeast, of which Carrillo is the head—they are united in the cause of Communism, it is reported, and operate as the "league of resistance." Membership cards to this organization are printed on flaming red paper. Its letter heads are printed in red and it is said that all official documents are written with red ink.

The organization of socialists was begun in Yucatan in 1915 and has been growing steadily ever since. At various times the most extreme of the radicals have advocated a separatist movement from Mexico but this has never been given serious consideration because Yucatan in no sense is self-supporting.

Yucatan at the present time is in a bad state economically. There is practically no market for henequen, the chief product of the state, and the large growers have been forced to store their crops and are not replanting. The result is almost disastrous to the peasant class which easily lends itself to the influence of the radicals who conduct their propaganda under the slogan of "help for the poor down-trodden Indian."

The economic situation has given rise to numerous instances of lawlessness and only recently a delegation of Yucatan journalists visited President Obregon to protest in person against the assassination of one of their number and to present other facts relative to a situation which they described as a "disgrace and a menace." President Obregon promised that full investigation would be made.

Newspaper dispatches from that region frequently tell of clashes between radicals and the conservatives with occasional bloodshed.

In line with these facts is the report recently cabled officially to the government here that the Communist congress which met in Moscow several months ago designated Yucatan as the headquarters for its propaganda work in Latin America.

Announcement--

We wish to announce that we have leased from the Colbert Brothers, the west portion of their garage which we will operate under the name of the AAA GARAGE. While this garage will be under my supervision and my POSITIVE guarantee behind all work that goes out, Mr. B. W. Young will have the management, who had many years of experience in the best shops in the country and for more than a year foreman of the Nash shops in Oklahoma City.

Then we have ROY RAINES with us, everybody who drives a "gas-going vehicle" knows Roy. He can fix anything from a Ford to a Rolls-Royce in short notice.

We will work on strict time card schedule and give our patrons a copy of all work executed.

We will be pleased to have our many friends call on us when in need of any thing in our line.

ALLEGED DOPE IS SEIZED BY AGENT

Federal Investigator Nabs Man in Postoffice With Package.

After patiently watching for almost a week a consignment of "dope" said to have been shipped from a point in Indiana, Charles C. Post, federal agent from Oklahoma City, arrested Charles F. Kasper here early Monday morning as Kasper is alleged to have been in the act of removing the package from the postoffice.

The man was placed in the county jail and the package was opened in his presence. He made no statement other than that he was receiving the package for a doctor. The shipment was addressed to "W. F. Hufstader, M. D."

Kasper, according to Federal Agent Post, was liable to arrest under any one of three charges, getting narcotics through mail, thereby violating postal laws, and also under state and federal charges for the possession of narcotics. He probably will be taken before the United States commissioner for an examination soon. The package, according to a statement made by Post immediately after he left the county jail here where he examined Kasper and the consignment said to have been received by him, contained an ounce of morphine.

In Game Fifteen Years
Mr. Post has been federal enforcement agent in Oklahoma for 15 years. During that time he has handled thousands of cases, some in practically every county. "I can tell a 'dope' as far as I can see him," Post said this morning. "Their strategy in receiving the stuff is becoming more intricate every day and in some places the traffic is reaching surprising proportions. Forged instruments are being widely used now to get it."

Mr. Post denied the theory set forth by a Muskogee chemist that prohibition is causing an increase in violation of anti-narcotic laws in Oklahoma.

He has been in Ada several days, he said.

WORD FROM LOGAN COUNTY AWAITED ANXIOUSLY TODAY

(By the Associated Press)

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 29.—State authorities were today anxiously awaiting advices from the eastern part of Logan county. Somewhere in that county Adjutant General J. H. Sharrock, together with C. Q. Wert, a member of the United Mine workers executive board and a personal representative of Charles F. Keeney, president of district 17, would dismiss workers following yesterday's reports to Governor Morgan that state police and deputies on one side and unidentified men on the other had fought an engagement at Beach creek, Boone county line.

All telephones in Ethel, Sharpels and Blair, mining communities in the eastern part of Logan county, were out of order all this morning. Neither was it possible to reach Logan.

Reports circulated over the state today that the miners who set out from Marmet to march to Mingo, were again gathering at Marmet, were discouraged by state authorities.

WONDERS OF AMERICA

By T. T. MAXEY

VALLEY FORGE

IN THE picturesque valley of the Schuylkill river, twenty miles northwest of Philadelphia, there is a sacred spot at which every American should give himself the privilege of worshipping sometime during his or her lifetime.

It is the then unattractive site, lined with barren, frozen hillsides, where General George Washington and his little army of about 10,000 half-starved, poorly-clad patriots bivouaced, suffering unthinkable hardship, from December, 1777, to June, 1778, following the tragic battle of the Brandywine and the occupancy of Philadelphia by the British.

This circumstance of history bequeathed to this hallowed place a glory and a fame which will attach to it throughout the ages to come as will the more recent struggle to the region of the Argonne in France.

A tract of about 500 acres has been purchased by the state of Pennsylvania and the government, with patient determination and admirable completeness, is restoring ancient landmarks and transforming this historic camp-site of the Continental army into an everlasting National Shrine.

The Daughters of the American Revolution have erected a noble shaft to the unknown who sleep here and the Valley Forge Museum of American History contains many relics of the day. One fills with emotion as he enters the little cottage where General Washington had his simple headquarters and feels the odor of sanctity as he steps into the Washington Memorial Chapel, sometimes called "The Westminster of America."

PATRIOTIC "FIB" GOT CIVIL WAR VET OVER

(By the Associated Press)

MILFORD, Neb., Aug. 29.—Hale and hearty at 77 years, a veteran of the Civil War through a patriotic "fib" and now with the responsibility of 268 comrades-survivors of that same struggle on his shoulders, J. O. Moore, commandant of the Nebraska Soldiers' and Sailors' home here, pursues his daily tasks with comradeship and economy his twin watchwords.

Commandant Moore's duties are varied and numerous, from nurse at times to diplomatic interloper in the petty fusses and domestic financial and family misunderstandings, but he loves his work, he says, and asked which part he liked best replied "every bit of it." More than sixty of this enrollment are wives of veteran inmates.

His charges declare he is one of the few remaining warriors of the Civil War to hold such a post, and will probably be the last. Mr. Moore has no thought of retiring although he does get a trifle worried when instances come up which bring to face the fact that the law has been so amended as to admit heads of the institution who were not veterans of the Civil War.

Age is a point of great rivalry at the old Soldiers' home, but if anyone should look up the commandant's record, they would find out that it makes him four years older than his family Bible or birth certificate. While brings about the commandant's war history.

When the Civil War broke out and he wanted to enlist there seemed little possibility of success—he at seventeen with a ripped hand, suffered in an accident years before. Physicians refused him and he watched his father go to war before him.

Finally he struck upon a plan. He volunteered and persuaded a friend of his, Joe Witters, a youth of big stature and health to step forward when his name was called for physical examination. The ruse, with a little patriotic fib about his age, worked and in 1862 J. O. Moore enrolled as a member of Company 5, 126th Pennsylvania Infantry.

And now, Commandant Moore's opinion, he is yet serving his enlistment, jokingly remarking that he is "probably suffering from his falsehood of earlier days."

JIM CROW AUTHOR IS DEAD AT HOME

Clint Graham, President of First State Senate, Passes Away.

(By the Associated Press)

MUSKOGEE, Aug. 29.—Clint Graham, member of the Oklahoma house of representatives and known throughout the state democratic circles, died at his home at Marietta at ten o'clock this morning, according to a telegram received here by Representative Perry Miller from Mrs. Graham today.

The message did not state the cause of the death.

Mr. Graham was a member of the Oklahoma Constitutional committee and was president of the first Oklahoma senate. He was also the author of the "Jim Crow" law. He was a candidate for attorney general several years ago but was defeated.

Mr. Graham was born in Parker county Texas. He formerly lived at Ardmore, moving from that city to Marietta.

"MASTER MIND" TO BE STATE WITNESS, WORD

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—That J. Whitehead Worthington, alleged "master mind" of a band of mail robbers whose loot totaled $6,000,000 and associated with Charles W. French in many of his schemes of the $50,000,000 organization, may turn state's evidence was indicated today when Worthington asked to appear in court when French is arraigned.
Writing to Col. J. V. Clinlin, assistant district attorney, from the Woodstock jail where he is held a prisoner, Worthington said:

"There may be a possible information I may be able to supply you with. I believe that I can be of great help to you."
Clinlin said that Worthington appeared to believe that he had been double crossed by French.

'That Accommodating Bank'

CO-OPERATION

In any line of endeavor co-operation between all interested is absolutely essential. In the banking business this is particularly true. The Banker and his Depositor each need the other to make their business reap results. Each fellow is a human being and must be treated accordingly. The Banker is ever ready and willing to give suggestions, and aid to his customers' financial problems. On the other hand the Depositor should co-operate with the Banker by looking after his notes when they mature, by being careful not to overdraw his account, and a thousand other little courtesies that go to make for a better business understanding between them, because after all your Banker is just an ordinary human being.

Government Chemist Says Prohibition Increases Drug Menace.

MUSKOGEE, Aug. 29.—The ecstatic dreams that come from a "shot in the arm" are spreading, in the belief of a government chemist who arrived in Muskogee last week to analyze narcotic specimens held as evidence in the federal court here.
He is J. R. Manning of Little Rock, Ark., chief chemist of the southwestern district of the United States bureau of internal revenue.
"From the records of my office I am forced to believe the narcotic evil is growing despite the efforts of the government to abolish it," said Mr. Manning. Then he added: "When I was transferred from Washington, D. C. to Little Rock, last March, out of 400 specimens of narcotics and liquor that month only 70 were narcotic."
"Already this month we have made 500 analyses and 350 of them were of narcotics."

Prohibition the Cause.
Mr. Manning declared that in his opinion prohibition is largely responsible for the spread of the narcotic evil and that many persons who formerly resorted to liquor have become drug users since their supplies of whisky have been cut off.

Mr. Manning's territory includes ten states, of which Oklahoma is one, and the work of his laboratory is developing so rapidly that his staff of assistant chemists has been increased since March from one to three.

Beverages are analyzed, according to Mr. Manning, not to ascertain the alcoholic content and whether or not the liquor contains any poison.

"We have found thirty different kinds of poison in liquor specimens sent to us for analysis," the chemist declared. "The most frequent are wood alcohol, nitro benzol, formaldehyde, fusel oil and ether. Of course, fusel oil is present in all whiskey, the amount decreasing as the liquor ages."

"We are not finding as much wood alcohol as formerly. The drinking public seems to have learned a lesson in regard to this poison, but in one specimen of so-called whisky made from denatured alcohol we found bichloride of mercury, which is a corrosive poison destroying the organs. Several persons had died from drinking the 'whisky' of which this was a sample."

75 Specimens Here.
Mr. Manning has seventy-five specimens to analyze in Muskogee and he expects the work will take him a week. He expects to do most of his clerical work in the federal building, but in case the equipment he carries with him should prove inadequate he has been offered the use of a private laboratory. Among the specimens he will analyze here are those taken from the sanatorium of Dr. E. C. Morrison, negro, at Taft.

The chief chemist for this district formerly was in the federal laboratory at Washington, D. C., but to facilitate the work the country was divided into five districts with a complete laboratory at each district headquarters. As much of the work as possible is done at headquarters, but all the chemists work also in the field.

The ten states in this district are Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee.

Mr. Manning holds degrees from George Washington university, Western Maryland university and Texas A. and M. College. He also holds an appointment as a revenue agent.

ONE SEVENTH OF STATE DEAD ARE PAST 70 YEARS

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 27.—More than one seventh of the total number of persons who died in Oklahoma in 1920 outlived their biblical allotment of "three-score years and ten," according to statistics contained in the fifth annual report of the state department of health. There were 16,154 deaths reported with 2,580 persons more than 70 years old at the time of their death.

There were eighteen persons reported more than 100 years old at the time of death. Among persons between 90 and 100 years old 122 deaths were reported, while 698 were reported among persons between 80 and 90. From 70 to 80 years there were 1,479 deaths, according to the report.

The death rate for children less than 5 years amounted to 28.6 percent of the total; from 5 to 9 years 3.8 percent; 10 to 14 years 2.9 percent; 15 to 19 years, 4.3 percent; 20 to 24 years, 10 percent; 25 to 29 years, 7.8 percent; 30 to 39 years, 7.9 percent; 40 to 49 years, 7.8 percent; 50 to 59 years, 7.9 percent; 60 years and older, 23.8 percent; and unknown 1.7 percent.

The state death rate was 7.8 to 1,000 persons, while the birth rate for the state was 19.9 to 1,000. Oklahoma City's death rate was 12.9 to 1,000 and its birth rate 20.2 to 1,000.

McAlester led the state with its death rate of 17.5 to 1,000, with a birth rate of only 16.5. Marshall and Cotton counties ran a close race for first place in raising children, with Marshall winning by the score of 29.8 to 1,000 against 29.2 to 1,000 in Cotton.

MUSKOGEE—A two weeks' criminal term of the district court of this city will begin September 19, according to the county attorney.

"VAMPS" WHO MADE HISTORY

By JAMES C. YOUNG.

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

THE WOMAN OF MISFORTUNE.

THE loves of Marion Delorme all seemed to end in misfortune. She was devotedly attached to Cinq Mars, that brilliant young figure introduced at the court of Louis XIII by the great Richelieu. Cinq Mars distinguished himself at the siege of Arras in 1640 and immediately felt himself fitted for high command. He had become a favorite of the king and a notable of the day. Richelieu either believed that Cinq Mars was unfitted to command or else found his rising star a peril to himself. So he opposed the granting of the young man's wishes. Louis temporized, and Cinq Mars talked rashly of overthrowing the cardinal. Then he did something much worse, negotiating with Spain to further his conspiracy. Richelieu exposed him and he was executed at the premature age of twenty-two.

His death plunged Marion into grief. But soon she reappeared in that half world just below the court. Her salon became one of the centers of Parisian life. She had a succession of lovers, even including Richelieu, it was said. But each time misfortune attended her. Then came the death of the cardinal and the rise to power of Mazarin, also cardinal and first minister of France. And not long afterward a civil struggle began which was known as the Fronde. Many of the leaders were reputed to gather at the house of Marion. That meant more misfortune. Mazarin sent to have her arrested. But suddenly she died and the cardinal was frustrated.

Now that is the story which history tells about Marion Delorme. But there is another and a far stranger story which has many indications of truth. According to this account she did not die at the dramatic moment history records, but a dead woman resembling her was laid out for public inspection and duly buried. Then, the story runs, Marion resumed her career in other lands, finally returning to Paris for an old age spent in misery. One account holds that she lived until 1706, dying at the age of ninety-three after living through one of the most eventful centuries that history has known. If these stories be true, what strange thoughts must have been those of Marion, in her old age, looking back upon the time of her youth when she consorted with Cinq Mars, the king's ministers, and the most powerful figures of the day.

5,700,000 IDLE IN COUNTRY NOW

Problems of Unemployment to be Studied Soon in Conference.

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Plans for President Harding's conference on unemployment will be commenced in time to permit the gathering to meet by the middle of September, it was said today by Secretary Hoover, who has been given charge of the arrangements.

Mr. Hoover said it was hoped to limit the members to the conference to 15 or 25, representing the country at large. A small number is necessary, Mr. Hoover declared, to permit the conference to work and to avoid a "debating society."

Controversy contest, such as the closed shop, wages out of the conditions of labor, will be avoided by the convention, the secretary asserted, adding that the aim of the conference would be to take an investigation of unemployment and the action by industries and communities to improve the unemployment situation throughout the country.

The conference, Mr. Hoover said, may continue for some time as it will be necessary to make a survey of the situation and determine the needs of the unemployment of breadwinners. Late unemployment statistics of labor department have placed the number out of work at 5,700,000.

Mr. Hoover expressed the belief that a close study of the conditions would reveal a somewhat smaller total.

During the time of high wages the number of people at work number as high as four and five in one family, not because it was necessary, and that all these could not be placed in the unemployment list, he said.

Mr. Hoover stated it was not planned to make the conference a meeting of capital and labor, but to work out through efficiency the questions to come up. A count will be made on what can be done by each major industry, but public officials and the country at large will be asked to promote work for the workers during the winter.

LAWTON—The school of fire at Fort Sill, Okla., on the government reservation near here, will open September 15. A total of 136 officers are to attend. Three new buildings are being constructed at the school of fire as officers' quarters. When completed the total capacity of officers' quarters at the school will 150.

ADA PULLS GAME IN LAST INNING

Local Ball Club Breaks Even at Chandler until Ninth.

CHANDLER, Aug. 29.—(Special)—A game with much excitement and a few errors and one in which the result was doubtful until the last inning was played between the Ada and Chandler ball clubs here Sunday, Ada taking the big end of the score by one point. The final score was 5-4.

The sensation of the game was the hit in the ninth by Lefty Waner, who up to this time had gone hitless. With the score 4 to 3 in favor of Chandler, Waner hit the ball for two bases and scored West and Fair both having made safe hits at the beginning of the inning. Biggers, pitching for Chandler, gave Waner a low one and allowed him to put it past the danger zone. He was also invincible in the ninth and did not give the Chandler hitters a chance for a come-back.

Chandler started things going in the second inning when they made the first score of the game after Waner had walked. Beavers and then allowed a three base hit by D. P. Sparks.

Ada failed to make a showing until the fourth. Vernon hit safely and crossed the plate on C. Sparks's hit to right field. This made the game interesting and things looked better for Ada.

Fifth Round Ada's Hoodoo.
The fifth inning proved almost a disaster for Ada when they allowed three runs before a rally could be made to stop heavy hitting by Chandler men. By a series of errors from almost every man in the game, Chandler broke the strong opposition put up by Ada and for a time took things with a rush.

Ada again came back in the sixth and drew two runs. Safe hits by C. Sparks and Roach made it possible for them to score on R. Waner's second hit of the game, a two bagger, scoring the men ahead of him. The game went into the ninth with the score 4 to 3 for Chandler. With a final rally Ada pulled victory out of a good chance for defeat and took her twelfth consecutive game of the year.

Lefty Waner proved himself equal to the occasion several times. He refused Chandler runs, though they had good chances. Roach at third and Rutledge at first accepted several hard chances and helped to make the game an even break for odds.

On the Chandler line-up were Eddie Palmer, of the Dallas Marines; Beavers, who played with Ada last season; Hogan, a university star; Osgood, Chandler's star player last season, and Biggers, pitcher from the End Western Association club.

Return games will be played at Ada between these clubs on Sunday, Sept. 4 and on Labor Day. Chandler's line-up will be re-informed by the addition of Tony Thebo, the steller out-fielder who was a favorite of fans last season in the Chandler series.

Brakeman Run Down and Killed Trying to Flag His Train

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, August 29.—J. R. Higgeson, Jr., of this city, was instantly killed early today at Indianola, according to reports received at the Frisco chief dispatcher's office here. According to the reports, Higgeson, who was a brakeman on a westbound extra train, was run down by an east bound train which he attempted to flag. The body was taken to Lawton.

Grant B. Smith, engineer of the eastbound train said, according to reports, that the headlight on the westbound train had blinded him so that he could not see the brakeman.

OKLAHOMA CITY—Claude E. Connally, state labor commissioner, said he would say offhand that the employment situation in Oklahoma now is only 40 or 50 per cent of normal. He is now completing a survey on the entire condition of labor, he said, with particular attention to the oil industry.
